

Alex Bollmann - Class of 2017 and Julianne Barkholz - Class of 2018

Go Navy!

Alex Bollmann – Newman Graduating Class of 2017

Alex will return this fall to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland, as a Midshipman 2nd Class (College Junior). He has played on the Navy Men’s Rugby team for the past two years and will continue to do so. Alex will sign his “2 for 7 Commitment” which will allow him to finish his final two years at the Naval Academy and then obligate him to serve for at least five years thereafter as a commissioned Naval Officer or Marine Corps Officer. His current service selection options are Marine Corps Aviation, Marine Corps Ground, SEALs, EOD, Naval Aviation, Submarines, or Surface Warfare.

Julianne Barkholz – Newman Graduating Class of 2018

Julianne just finished a post-secondary year at the Naval Academy Preparatory School in Newport, Rhode Island, and she has earned an appointment to attend the Naval Academy. She will report to Annapolis for Induction Day on June 27, 2019, when she will start an intensive six-week training phase called “Plebe Summer.” When academic classes begin in late August, she will be considered a “Plebe” (Midshipman 4th Class/College Freshman). During her first year, Jules will be a member of the Women’s Track Team.
