

Eric McManus - Class of 2004

Currently: Living in San Diego

Works in the service industry / Event Coordinator / Brewery & Restaurant Manager

Because of California state restrictions, Eric found himself unemployed and decided to put his time to good use by working with others to start Helping Hungry Heroes.

A difficult time for all Americans, Helping Hungry Heroes wanted to show their support and appreciation for the people working so hard to protect us. HHH will be providing fresh meals to nurses, doctors, first responders and essential workers in the San Diego medical community, all accomplished through donations and volunteer help. Their goal is to feed as many people as possible! To find out more about Helping Hungry Heroes, visit them on Instagram: @helpinghungryheroes or Facebook. Way to go Eric! Newman is proud of you!

